
Classification Of Subfactors And Their Endomorphisms

classification of actions on subfactors - ems - classification of actions on subfactors dedicated to professor masamichi takesaki on his sixtieth birthday by yasuyuki kawahigashi* abstract we define "a crossed product by a paragroup action on a subfactor" as a certain commuting square of type ij factors and give their complete classification in a strongly amenable case (in the classification of actions of discrete amenable groups on ... - classification of actions of discrete amenable groups on amenable subfactors of type ii sorin popa abstract. we prove a classification result for properly outer actions σ of discrete amenable groups g on strongly amenable subfactors of type ii , $n \subset m$, a class of subfactors that were shown to be completely classified by their standard ... non-commutative galois theory and the classification of ... - subfactors give subfactor planar algebras, and subfactor planar algebras give subfactors. this is part of why 'non-commutative galois theory' is a good way to think about subfactors. this also gives us a new way to construct subfactors, by giving a generators-and-relations presentation of the associated planar algebra. classification standards website: opm/fedclass/index - six factors (see below) with subfactors. if proposed grade may be based on nonsupervisory work, pd should be submitted factors a classification of all nite index subfactors for a class ... - a classification of all nite index subfactors for a class of group-measure space ii 1 factors by steven deprez(1;3) and stefaan vaes(2;3) journal of noncommutative geometry 5 (2011), 523-545. abstract we provide a family of group measure space ii 1 factors for which all nite index subfactors can be explicitly listed. classification of actions of compact abelian ... - arxiv - classification of actions of compact abelian groups on subfactors with index less than 4 koichi shimada abstract. we classify actions of discrete abelian groups on some inclusions of von neumann algebras, up to cocycle conjugacy. as an application, we classify actions of compact abelian groups on the inclusions of afd (approximately a characterization of normal extensions for subfactors - a characterization of normal extensions for subfactors 783 proof. suppose that m acts on a hilbert space x in a standard way. by the duality for an inclusion of factors, $k' = m' \times g$ and $n' = m' \times h$. symptom-based subfactors of dsm-defined conduct disorder ... - symptom-based subfactors of dsm-defined conduct disorder: evidence for etiologic distinctions jennifer l. tackett, robert f. krueger, william g. iacono, and matt mcgue university of minnesota, twin cities campus past research investigating the structure of conduct disorder (cd) symptoms has provided evidence of a chapter 3, position descriptions - hqmcrites - classification, then it is helpful if position descriptions include information on these ... subfactors that, when described, provide the information necessary to determine the grade of the position. each of the fes factors is discussed below. chapter 2, "the factor evaluation national tooling & machining association b m advisory - employees working within the job classification. for non-exempt hourly rated jobs, a range of 30% is reasonable. this provides for 15% above or below the job standard rate. pay levels at 85%, 90%, 95%, 100%, 105%, 110% and 115% can then provide for developmental or meritorious employee performance purposes. it is also suggested that the wage operator algebras: subfactors and their applications - this ini programme was driven by recent breakthroughs on two fronts - the classification of subfactors up to a bit beyond index five, involving the newer planar algebra tools, and the growing evidence that subfactors, hence those previously thought to be exotic, such as the haagerup subfactor, yields natural conformal field theories. quantitative classification running head: quantitative ... - subfactors are groups of closely-related syndromes, such as the fear subfactor formed by strong links between social anxiety, agoraphobia, and specific phobia. spectra are larger constellations of syndromes, such as an internalizing spectrum composed of syndromes from fear, distress, eating pathology, and sexual problems subfactors.
